Need your office files moved securely? Erb's can do the job for you.

Moving an office is overwhelming. Moving your supply of confidential files is even more so. Erb's Filing and Storage Solutions Group offers relocation services to businesses. We move existing filing and storage systems to new locations with our specialized professional management. You don't have to do a thing. Whether you are moving down the street or to another city, Erb's has the capabilities and experience to handle this critical part of your move from start to finish. Call Erb's to survey your records moving requirements.

Existing housing and/or new housing is installed at the new location.

The record carts are transported to the new location and unloaded.

Files are unloaded from housing to specialized record transfer carts, maintaining the proper sequence.

The files are loaded, in sequence, onto the expanded shelving housing at your new office. You are ready for business!

The existing housing is disassembled and prepared for transport.

Records on carts are secured with clear wrap to protect and maintain record integrity. They are then loaded onto the moving van.
